

Money in It.

Milk cows are the most valuable asset on the farm. Their milk and butter may be converted into cash, and their offspring is always salable.

Rough Feed.

Feed the cows rough feeds for bulk, green feeds for good appetite and digestion, but don't forget to feed them some concentrated feeds from which an abundant flow of milk can be made.—Farmers' Home Journal.

Food For Brood Mares.

Brood mares should be fed liberally, but not to excess. They should have the best quality of well cured hay, oats and bran. Mouldy hay that has been heated in the mow or bale, musty oats and bran that has soured will not supply the proper nutriment for producing stake winners.—American Cultivator.

Packing of Apples in Boxes.

One great advantage of packing apples in boxes is that close distinction in size and color are easily made. The number of apples in a box can be determined almost instantly by the buyer. Some practiced packers claim to distinguish size by different styles of pack. Familiarity with half a dozen styles will enable a grower to pack successfully all the common varieties. With the straight pack, as Illustrated, a box may contain 96, 112, 128 or 144 apples, depending upon their size and shape. In the offset pack the three apples do not quite fill the width of the box. The next row is placed so as to leave the space on the opposite side. A form of diagonal pack is shown, which is somewhat more economical of space. In all cases the object is to get an even placing of the fruit with the same size throughout.

The Old Churn.

The old churn used to turn out fine butter on the farm. Now, with the knowledge of handling cream, ripening and churning it that has become so general, the churn should be able to turn out really gilt-edge butter. Such butter would promptly put a profit into dairying. The dairy farmer afraid of the churn cannot hope to make money out of milk.—Farmers' Home Journal.

Thrifty Animals Immune.

Lice seldom attack thrifty animals. When an animal is infested with vermin it indicates neglect, either in insufficient food, filthy quarters, or contamination with stock that have been infested, which happens at times when an animal is purchased and brought on the farm, and when lice get on animals the loss of rest will alone prevent them from increasing in weight.—American Cultivator.

The Secret of Egg Production.

Why are eggs so much scarcer in winter than summer? This question is answered by the Ruralist as follows: Lack of proper food and comfortable shelter. Confine yourself exclusively to dry food all winter and the doctor—may be the undertaker—will get you. The hens must have substitutes for the summer food, and they must be kept warm.

The quantity of bugs, worms and slugs consumed by the hens in summer is equivalent to a considerable amount of meat, and the green vegetables they devour would equal a relatively large quantity of vegetables. Furnish them meat scraps, fruit and vegetable parings and clover leaves—then if you keep them comfortable you will get eggs.

Rearing Dairy Stock.

It should ever be considered that heifers are being reared for the dairy and not for beef. For this purpose they should be fed and cared for. There should be a good, healthy growth of muscle and bone, but not of fat. Begin with the calves and follow up until the heifers become cows. There should be a steady growth of body and development of dairy form qualities all of the time, summer and winter. The young animals should be kindly treated, so that they may become quiet and docile. This is the more necessary as the heifers usually take their place in the dairy at the early age of two years. There should be plenty of succulent, nourishing foods, but no overfeeding, as this is an injury to them rather than a benefit.—Weekly Witness.

How to Pluck Chickens.

Of course any housewife knows how to pluck chickens, says the farmer, but do they know how to prepare the birds so that they will be attractive to the eye (which counts much to the purchaser). When a bird is plucked dry the poultryman will receive more per pound for the fowl than when it is scalded. In picking dry, the breast should be plucked first, starting near the crop. After the breast the thighs, then the back near the base of the tail and last the wings. As soon as the feathers have been removed the wings should be twisted over the back and the feet washed, after which the thighs and legs should be pressed to the body either by placing a brick on the bird's breast or by tying the body, the object of this being to give the bird a plump or blocky appearance.

Any aged bird may be scalded without seriously injuring its quality if it is properly handled; but owing to the large number of poorly dressed scalded fowls, the marketmen place a premium on one from two cents a pound on dry-plucked stock. Boiling water may be used, but care must be taken not to leave young birds in the water too long, or the skin will cook, while with old fowl a little more time may not do any harm. The head and shanks should be kept out of the water, as the scalding will discolor them and make them unsightly. Immediately after the bird is taken from the scalding water it should be dipped into cold water to stop the cooking and, as poultrymen say, to "plump the bird." The bird should then be hung to a line with feet tied together, as no bird plucked on the lap or a table will have so good an appearance. If a scalded bird is exposed to a draught when being plucked or when cooling the skin is likely to harden and become rough. It is because of these possibilities that dry-plucking is recommended by large raisers of poultry, as the condition of the skin to a great extent accounts for the high or low returns received.—Indiana Farmer.

Silage For Hogs.

In his address before the Iowa Swine Breeders' Association, Mr. L. H. Paul said: "If you will save your cornstalks properly they will be more valuable to you for feed than the ears. Cornstalks are worth more in the silo than the corn in the crib. When the farmers get down to studying their business along that line and get economical they will produce pork and beef cheaper. Better methods mean better preparation of the soil, better care of growing crops and better care of the crops at harvesting time. A little deeper study of our own business and by pursuing better methods is the only way that we can produce cheaper.

"Too much silage is good for dairy cattle, but maybe you never thought of it as making beef. Did it ever occur to you that if silage would keep a Holstein steer fat it would keep an Aberdeen-Angus or a Hereford steer fat? Corn in the roasting ear stage is not good for a silo. There is just as much difference between corn silage made of green corn and ripe corn as there is between roasting and matured corn. Green corn put in the silo turns to vinegar, and you want it ripe to put in the silo. If you have the corn matured you will have sweet silage, and just as safe to feed a brood mare as bluegrass. Corn in the mature stage put in the silo will stop in the first stage of fermentation, and it is absolutely safe. When corn has been badly frozen, if you will let it stand for several days and then put it in the silo, it will make sweet silage, and you will get practically two-thirds value.

"A hog will eat about four pounds a day. Figuring corn at the average price, it costs about a mill a day, or a tenth of a cent, to feed silage to a hog. There is all the corn in that amount of silage that a hog will need, but you might add to it by feeding a little protein feed. It is not rich enough in the bone and muscle part of the feed, and should have something in that line."

A Convenient Portable Fence.

The panels in the portable fence shown here are made of four-inch fencing, fourteen feet long, with six-inch spaces between the boards, thus making a fence three feet high by allowing the cleats to project two inches. If the fence is to be used for pigs the lower space may be reduced to four inches and the upper one increased to eight inches. The fence is held in place by triangular frames. The ends of the panel overlap about six inches and fit into notches for the top and bottom boards. The brace should be on the outside of the lot. It may be necessary in some cases to stake the panels at the braces to secure greater stability.

ONE KIDNEY GONE.

But Cured After Doctors Said There Was No Hope.

Gyvanus O. Verrill, Milford, Me., says: "Five years ago a bad injury paralyzed me and affected my kidneys. My back hurt me terribly, and the urine was badly disordered. Doctors said my right kidney was practically dead. They said I could never walk again. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. One box made me stronger and freer from pain. I kept on using them, and in three months was able to get out on crutches, and the kidneys were acting better. I improved rapidly, discarded the crutches and to the wonder of my friends was soon completely cured."

Lame Back Prescription.

Considerable discussion is being caused among the medical fraternity by the increased use of whiskey for lame back and rheumatism. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following is the formula:

"To one ounce of Tonic compound and one ounce of Sarsaparilla compound add one-half pint of good whiskey. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

It is surely worth trying by any one who may be afflicted.

Some people spend money just as if they had earned it, but those who have earned it do not.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM.

It Is An Internal Disease and Requires An Internal Remedy.

The cause of Rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with Oils and Liniments will not cure, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called "Rheumicide." Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures. We believe it will cure you. Rheumicide "gets at the joints from the inside," sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the bowels and makes you well all over. Rheumicide "strikes the roots of the disease and removes its cause." This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c. and $1 a bottle. In Tablet form at 25c. and 50c. a package. Get a bottle to-day. Booklet free if you write to Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

Raw Furs—Profits For Country Boys.

This is the time of the year when the average country boy not only gets a great amount of sport and pleasure out of fur trapping, but considerable profit and pocket money. Raw furs in recent years have brought remarkably good prices. Fashion has ordained that every lady must wear furs, consequently the demand has increased. Prices of furs are higher than they were last year. M. M. BART & SONS, LOUISVILLE, KY., make a specialty of Raw Furs, and a visit to their fur room is an interesting sight. For here can be found furs from every section of the United States. They receive shipments from all over the country in answer to their weekly price list, which they issue every Friday. The price list is furnished the shipper upon application. Write for it.

Plenty of Exercise Necessary.

Plenty of regular exercise must be taken in order to keep the body in a healthy condition. Any excessive or unusual exertion, however, is sure to cause stiffness and soreness of the muscles and joints.

To counteract this effect there is nothing better than Sloan's Liniment. Lay it on lightly where the muscles have been strained; it requires no rubbing for it penetrates right to the bone, relieves any congestion and inflammation and makes the muscles elastic and pliant.

Sloan's Liniment is a great boon to athletes, for it not only relieves pain and stiffness, but it is an excellent remedy for sprains, cuts, bruises and cramps.

Mr. J. F. Price of Tusculuma, Ala., writes: "I am an engineer on the Southern Road from Chattanooga to Memphis, Tenn. The continued elevation of my arm upon the throttle gives it a sore feeling when on a long journey, and there is nothing that will take the soreness out like Sloan's Liniment, and I keep a bottle in my grip always."

CHILD HAD SIXTY BOILS

And Suffered Annually With a Red Scald-Like Humor on Her Head—Troubles Cured by Cuticura.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her. Six weeks later a humor broke out behind her ears and spread up to her head until it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was distressed. But I continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and food until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 S.
